

Marlene Boyette is a full-time yoga and mindfulness teacher at The Advent School, an elementary school in Beacon Hill, Boston, MA.

Boyette began her personal journey of practicing yoga in 2003, became certified to teach children's yoga in 2013 and obtained her Trauma Informed 200 E-RYT after training with 4 Corners Yoga + Wellness in Dorchester, in 2016.

As community member and activist at heart, Boyette has founded Leela Yoga & Wellness and co-found of Peace In Boston and Black + Blonde, two initiatives focused on bringing yoga to underserved communities and prioritizing diversity, equity, and inclusion within Boston area wellness spaces.

Boyette has collaborated with various agencies, organizations and programs such as The Boston Public Health Commission, Boston Public Library, The ICA, The Boston Children's Museum, The Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum, The Teachers Lounge, Breathe for Change, and is dedicated to using yoga, meditation, and overall wellness as catalysts for supporting, building, and healing community.